A LOUISIANA WHIG.

A large and enthusiastic Whig meeting was recently held at Roxbury, Mass., which was addressed by a number of distinguished individuals, among whom was Hon. S. H. Walley, Jr. Hon. Mr. Lunt, and Hon. Mr. Duncan of

A series of spirited resolutions were adopted, and among them the following;

Resolved, That in our opinion the object of this new coalition is to form a sectional party, to array the North against the South, and that the success of their plan will lead to a dissolution of this glorious confederacy of free States, the pride of man, and the hope of the world. That the Whigs of the North and the Whigs of the South are one in heart, in feeling, in love of their common country, that mg, in love of their common country, that they have stood fogether in opposition to the but, it will, ere long, be the recorded sentiment of this sion of Texas, in opposition to THE CONQUEST OF NEIGHBORING TERRITORIES,—in osition TO THE EXTENSION OF SLAVERY followed in a speech of surpassing beauty, eloquence and power. He took up the resolutions and said, that sithough he had never seen or heard of them till they were real in that hall, they did not contain a sentiment or a principle to which, not only himself, but the whole Whig party of the South assented most cordially. He denied that the Southern Whigs were in favor of the extension of Slavery, and proved from the records of Congress that with one exception every Whig Senator voted against the annexation of Texas, while four examined them, to be a superior article. New England Democrats voted for it—but one vote was wanted from New England to secure the annexation and four Democrats reshed in to give it!! And again, that a Southern Whig. (Berrien) introduced a resolution into the Senate against taking a foot of territory from Mexico, thus to shut out the territory from Mexico, thus to shut out the possibility of extending Slavery, and that every Southern Whig sustained it, while Northern Democrats opposed it. The above resolution, he said, ought to be written in words of living light and in letters of gold, for the trails it contained were of value inestima-

And Gen. Taylor was one of these Southern Whigs-he had known him for years-always the same, always a Whig. He indignantly denied that Southern Whigs had banded together for the support of a Southern candidate on any Southern ground, or on any Southern principle not equally a Northern

Mr D. also referred to the Sumner Van Barer manifesto, and dealed the assertion as a wholesale falsehood, that Gen. Taylor has been nominated by the Legislature of Louisianewithout distinction of party. He was a mersion of that Legislature, and he spoke town his own knowledge when he said that it had not nominated Gen. Taylor at all! He gists, Boston, have failed for $120,000. denied the truth of another assertion made in that paper, to wir: that Mr. Calhoun and his party favored Gen. Taylor, and proceeded to specific the state of poison. show, by the doings of the Democratic Consention in Charleston, that Mr. Calboun and his tail had come out openly for Gen. Cass, on the ground that, although Gen. Taylor is a Southern man they could not trust him on the question of Slacery, and that General Cass was pledged to veto any bill to extend the show, by the doings of the Democratic Conuni-slavery proviso over the new territo zerte, have determined to resist the admission
